Honors Day Slated Tues.

Over $8,000 will be handed out to students in the form of upper-class scholarships next Tuesday during convocation.

Thirty-two class scholarships, each worth $100, will be awarded to deserving members of next year's sophomore, junior and senior classes. Six will go to seniors, eight to juniors, and ten to sophomores.

IN ADDITION, there will be at least an equal number of funded awards given. These stipends, ranging in value from $25 to $300, are made available through grants from numerous donors.

Among the larger awards are the $500 Homuth Scholarship, sometimes divided between two students, and the $300 Board for Christian Social Action Scholarship, Ed G. Engelbrecht Scholarship, Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Company Scholarship, Schield-Bantam Company Scholarship and the Wartburg Press Awards.

BESIDES THESE awards, recognition will be made of the students whose Regents Awards will be continued for an additional year.

Dr. G. J. Neumann, English Department, will serve as master of ceremonies. The convocation will also feature the presentation of music, athletic, publications and forensic awards to be made by the department heads.

The same as last year, three alumni scholarships are to be presented, one each to a member of next year's sophomore, junior and senior classes. The awards are worth $150.

Several donors have stipulated that their scholarship is to be given to a person in a specific field of study, such as theology or social work.

Council Turns Down Societies At W'burg

Following discussion, the faculty-student council unanimously rejected the Senate recommendation that social groups be recognized on the Wartburg campus.

Sophomore Senator Mary Wilharm, chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating social groups, read the motion before the council at its May 16 meeting.

The motion was dropped in the basis of lack of general Student Body interest, no apparent necessity and problems involved with "closed" groups.

The faculty-student council is made up of the executive committee of the Student Body, Pres. C. H. Becker, Dean J. O. Chellevoeld, Dean Florence Hertlein, Dean Earnest Opperman, Chaplain Herman Diers and Raymond Norheim, Student Union director.

The Play's The Thing

ARLO BICE stands over Bruce Bergquist in the production of the prize-winning play, "Le Valet de M. Bouchard." Tonight the three one-act plays will be performed for the last time. For review, see page 3.

Band, Singers Make Music A'la Mode

Music a' la Mode will be presented next Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. by the Band and Castle Singers on the mall in front of Luther Hall.

Light music will be presented by both groups. They will combine for three numbers, and the remaining ones will be separate. Robert E. Lee is the director of the Band, and

James Fritschel directs the Castle Singers.

An ice-cream social, sponsored by the Band, will be held afterward.

Everyone is invited to attend this outdoor concert, according to Lee. In case of rain, the concert will be held in the Knights Gymnasium.

AFTER YEAR'S WORK,

Fortress, Wartburg Annual, Will Arrive Next Week, According To Two Editors

By Shirley Behrends
The Fortress will arrive next week.

That's the latest word from yearbook editors Lorraine (Rennie) Fiegen and Ed Scharlau. After hours of work and worry for the editors and 17 staff members, the waiting game is in process. The 184-page book is now at the bindery.

Both Rennie and Ed agreed that editing the book was more work than they had first realized. However, it will be a year of struggles and successes they will never forget.

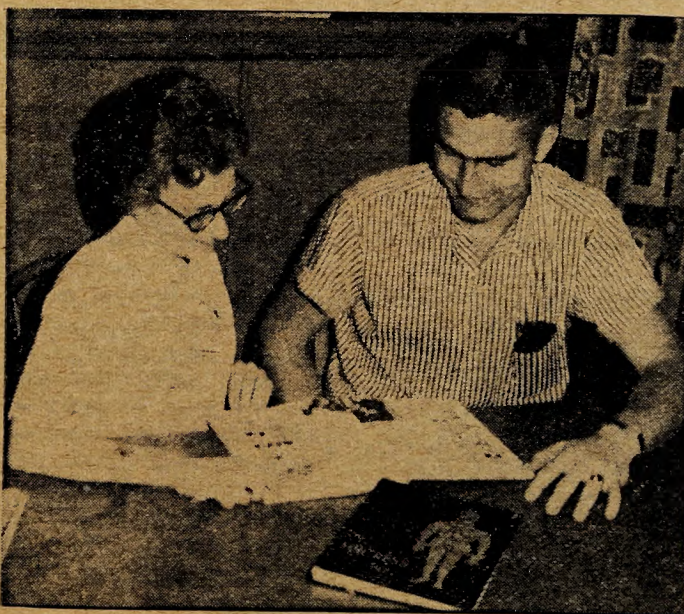

Said Rennie, "The most unpleasant thing about working in the Publications House is the smoke."

Here she was referring to the smoke frequently coming from the pipes and cigars of the male publications editors in the building.

One of the funniest situations, according to Ed, occurred when group pictures were being taken for the yearbook.

It seems that one of the college students waiting to be in a group picture asked the photographer, "Why are you running late?" When the photographer asked, "Were you here on time?", the answer was "No."

Rennie is a junior English major from Mason City, and CO-EDITORS Lorraine Fiegen and Ed Scharlau smile as they relax and await the appearance of the 1960 Fortress. After being in production for over a year, the yearbook is due this week.

she plans to teach junior high school after graduation.

Ed, also a junior, is a business major from Independence, Wis. His plans for the future are indefinite, either the seminary or business.

Both Rennie and Ed worked on the Fortress last year, too. Ed was associate editor and also worked as photographer. Rennie was a general help to the

Council Gives Nod To Women's Dorm

By Charles Jepsen

A much-needed women's dormitory addition is rapidly taking shape as a result of the meeting of the Development Council yesterday.

The council adopted a subcommittee report to organize a support group for fund raising purposes to add to the physical expansion of Wartburg College.

The support group's first project is the raising of $200,000 in cash and pledges for a women's dormitory by Dec. 31, 1961.

THE COUNCIL went on record to undertake a further project of raising $250,000 for a future science building.

In view of the immediate need to provide women's housing on campus, the group adopted the following resolution to be presented to the Board of Higher Education of the Church:

"Whereas the Wartburg College Development Council is willing to assume the responsibility of raising $200,000 in cash and pledges by December 31, 1961 for an additional women's dormitory unit, and

"WHEREAS THE Board of Higher Education has tentatively approved an amortizing loan of $200,000 for such a project; therefore be it

"Resolved that the Development Council hereby petitions the Board of Higher Education and the Board of Trustees of the American Lutheran Church to authorize the Wartburg College Board of Regents to proceed immediately with the planning for and construction of a dormitory unit to house no less than 140 resident women students."

The Board of Regents meets June 6 to review and consider this action.

THE SUPPORT group organized by the Development Council at yesterday's meeting is to be called the Wartburg College Castle Club.

Membership will be determined by willingness to pledge personally $500 or $1,000 by Dec. 31, 1961. Those pledging $1,000 by that time will be known as charter members, and those who pledge $500 will be called associate charter members.

Dr. Axel Bundgaard athletic director, presented the physical education and athletic programs to the council at its morning session.

Dr. Bundgaard related that Wartburg has one of the outstanding physical education plants of small Iowa colleges. He further stated that the many uses of the present gym points up the need for additional physical education facilities.

THE SOLUTION suggested was the erection of a prefabricated steel fieldhouse.

Pres. C. H. Becker also addressed the group concerning the work of recently appointed faculty committee which is to study the college curriculum.

It is hoped that the study may result in a reduction of the total number of courses offered with greater enrollment in particular classes. Thought is also being given to more independent study by juniors and seniors.

'Long Shadows' Stretch

Long shadows from the elms,
Reaching from our college days,
Keep Wartburg loyalties
And guide us always.

This song, with words by a former Wartburg science instructor and music written by Dr. E. A. Hovdesven of the Music Department, is familiar to most Wartburg students. First the exclusive property of the Castle Singers, it has more and more become a campus possession.

This year the Band concluded each tour concert by singing it. (Last year the group sang the "Loyalty Song" at its concerts.) Just last weekend the annual junior-senior banquet ended with the singing of "Long Shadows from the Elms." It was listed as "loyalty song" on the printed programs.

This all leads to speculation about whether "Long Shadows" should replace Wartburg's present "Loyalty Song."

The "Loyalty Song" is a presentable specimen, as far as loyalty songs go. However, the melody to "Come Ye Thankful People, Come," while being a fine, singable tune, is certainly not distinctively Wartburgian.

If "Long Shadows" were to become the official loyalty song, Wartburg could take pride in having a song that belonged to it alone.

"Long Shadows" however, has been accused of being too nostalgic for a loyalty song. If this accusation is true, its basis does not seem to lie in the melody, which is no more sentimental than that traditional representative of all alma maters, Cornell's "By Cayuga's Waters."

The supposed hindrance to "Long Shadows" as a true loyalty song would then seem to lie in its words. The present lyrics paint a beautiful sentiment, but they could easily be changed to emphasize Wartburg itself rather than college memories.

"Long Shadows from the elms . . ."

Wartburg could have its own distinctive loyalty song.

'And The Living Is Lazy'

Summertime.

It shimmers in the distance, beyond the mucky haze of last-minute cramming, final exams and packing.

Warm heavy sunshine, cool heavy water, sleep heavy mornings.

And in between is time, acres and acres of time. In this time, all those things crowded into nothingness by school can be done. Reading, traveling, sewing, practicing, writing, ad infinitum.

Summertime.

It recedes in the distance, lost in the whirlwind of returning to school.

Hot heavy sunburn, cold heavy rain, ache-heavy muscles.

And in between is a summer job, acres and acres of that summer job. Reading, traveling, sewing, practicing, writing?

Well, maybe during the school year . . .

Summertime.

Another school year is about over. Does everyone feel one thousand dollars smarter?

If you doubt that seniors are important people, just ask the treasurer's, development association and alumni offices.

After looking over their finances, the seniors decided to buy two building signs and recommended that future senior classes buy more.

Any correlation between President Becker's speaking in convo and 100 per cent faculty attendance is purely coincidental.

After reading about the new student numbering system, one coed remarked, "And to think I came to Wartburg so that I wouldn't be a number!"

Question of the week: Will the campus bunnies have a normal childhood?

This is higher education? One coed on the elementary school curriculum became so engrossed while reading a "kid lit." book that she got behind in her other studies.

SELF GETS IN WAY

To Love Others Is Difficult

By Jack Horner

"The second is this, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself' — Mark 12:31.

We have heard this Commandment so often; yet somehow it has no force. It is almost meaningless until we know what Christ had in mind when he spoke of this second of the greatest Commandments.

What does it mean to love someone as yourself? Until we have a clearer understanding of this Commandment, we will not behave according to it. Until we know that such love is possible in our finite, sinful state, it will not be a true command for us.

Horner

First, we should ask ourselves, "Do we as children of God have the concern, the feelings and the involvement in the traumatic experience of our neighbor? Is our involvement with him as genuine as our involvement in our own traumatic experiences?"

Man can become extremely involved with his own life. He can get to the point where his mind becomes so selfish that it becomes distorted, confused, neurotic or even psychotic, unless the man becomes more interested in other things after realizing the futility of selfishness.

The grace and wisdom of God offers us an infinite number of things to seek out and study. Science and mathematics are such endeavors which draw man's concern away from his own involvement.

What does it mean to love your neighbor as yourself? Christ is our best example. If we know how he did it, we will also do the same.

We have Christ's command, "Love your neighbor as yourself." Christ commands this, even though he knows the plight we are in. He, by His example, wishes to turn our attention away from ourselves and to fix our concern on those around us—on those who are still self-centered.

Christ came to us with a mind not turned upon Himself but upon us, upon our sins and upon the means by which

He might lift us from the mire of pride and egotism by showing us how to be humble and not self-centered.

Paul admonishes us to "Let this mind be in you which was in Christ Jesus."

The mind of Christ is the mind we should have. It is not easy for us to have love and concern for others; Christ knows this. But Jesus has made it possible and stands even now to enter our lives more and more.

It seems impossible for men of different views and purposes to be "one in Christ"; yet somehow we are one by loving one another as ourselves.

LAST STAND TONIGHT

3 One-Act Plays On Boards

By Roger Schneider

Tonight at 8, the curtain rises in the Little Theater for the last performances by the Wartburg Players of the three winning one-act plays chosen in the Wartburg playwriting contest.

Thursday and Friday evenings found Bob Rosenberg, a junior from Appleton, Wis., and Lonnie Hoffmann, a sophomore from Low Moor, playing the lead roles of Karl and Juna Tomson in "Altar in the Hills," written by R. D. McNay of the State University of Iowa and directed by junior Bruce Bergquist.

ROSENBERG realistically portrays a self-centered, glory-hungry farmer who is blinded to the more important things in life that his wife, played by Miss Hoffman, so emotionally understands.

Although Rick Sturdevant as

Rosenberg

Miss Hoffman

Dark Tomson, the broken-hearted son, and Jerry Sale as Kenyon Himes, a neighbor boy, attempt to bring the elder Tomson to reality, it takes a tragedy to do the job.

"MELODY FOR Two Apples," written by Norman Handelsman also from SUI, and directed by senior Arlo Bice, cast Wartburg Players' veteran Don Ehlers, sophomore from Worthington, Minn., as Jonathan Apple.

Able complementing Ehlers in the role of Betty Apple is freshman Marjorie Johnson.

In his brief appearances as a salesman, senior Bill Schroeder sets the stage for senior Dick Ferries, in the role of a clothing store dummy, to fascinate the audience with humorous quips directed at Betty and Jonathan Apple.

As a comedy, this play drew numerous chuckles from a small opening night crowd.

Versatile Bruce Bergquist, from Oklahoma City, Okla., ably assumed his character of M. Bouchard in the first-prize winning play "Le Valet de M. Bouchard," written by Jack Dell of SUI and directed by Ehlers.

IN SUPPORTING Bergquist, Bice played the role of Martin, Bouchard's valet. Together these two characters built a mystery that left the audience spellbound and wondering.

Even after the curtain had fallen, the audience remained puzzled and confused as to what had really happened on stage to solve this mystery. This play requires close attention and provokes deep thought on the part of the viewers.

With the usual fine support on the part of the lighting, sound and other behind-the-scenes workers, these plays are unusually well produced and should demand an hour and one-half of every Wartburg student's time.

Bunny Business

THE WARTBURG family has increased again — this time by seven rabbits. The baby bunnies, each about two inches long, are stashed away in a hole in the middle of the campus.

Hippity-hoppity, Easter's on the way?

Honorary Degrees To Two

Wartburg will award two honorary doctorates at its commencement exercises June 7.

Receiving the degrees will be Dr. Anne Carlsen, a winner of the "Handicapped American of the Year" award, and Dr. Magnus R. Hestenes, professor of mathematics at the University of California at Los Angeles.

DR. CARLSEN, a 1934 Wartburg alumna, was awarded the President's trophy for the handicapped American of the year last May. She was born with only stubs for arms, with her right leg shortened above the knee and her left leg ending in a clubfoot.

Presently superintendent of the Crippled Children's School, Jamestown, N. D., Dr. Carlsen received her B. A. from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis; her M. A. from Colorado State, Greeley; and her Ph. D. from Minnesota.

DR. HESTENES, former chairman of the Department of Mathematics at UCLA, was a visiting lecturer at Wartburg in April.

A graduate of St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., Dr. Hestenes earned his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and his doctorate at the University of Chicago.

He has been a National Research Fellow, a Guggenheim Fellow, a Fulbright Research Fellow in Norway and a Benjamin Pierce instructor at Harvard.

Band Recordings To Arrive Soon

Recordings made by the Wartburg College Band will be available before the school year is completed, reports Robert E. Lee, director of the group.

While in Chicago on its spring tour, the Band made the recording. The 12-inch, long-play record is under the Capitol Recording Company.

Records will be available from any band member for the price of $4.75 and if ordered by mail, $4.98.

Organizations Choose Next Year's Leaders

Preparing for next year's activities, a number of organizations recently elected officers for '60-61.

Heading Lutheran Student Association will be junior Roger Heins. Sophomore Al Putz is vice president, junior Mary Heuer secretary and freshman Eldon De Weerth treasurer.

Junior Evelyn Helms was elected Phebes prexy. Other officers are sophomore Lonnie Hoffman, vice president; freshman Jan Eggers, secretary; and sophomore Judy Gienger, treasurer.

Numbers Go To Students

Beginning next fall, each Wartburg student will have a number, according to a decision made by the Educational Policies Committee Monday night.

Each student will keep the same number throughout his connection with the college, according to Dr. J. O. Chellevold, dean of faculty.

The numbering system will be used in filing systems, on suggested identification cards and in the posting of grades. It may also eventually be used in an IBM system.

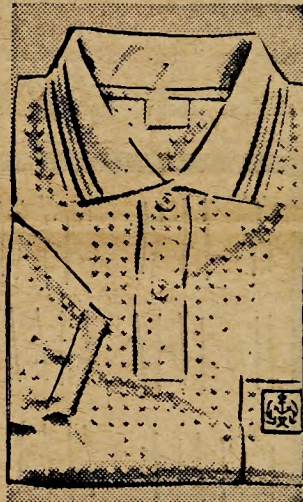

Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann pointed out that the public posting of an entire class's grades, now prevented because of lack of privacy, would particularly benefit students.

The Educational Policies Committee also approved the revision of the social science major for teachers.

Changes include the substitution of a three-hour sociology course for a six-hour course, the addition of a geography course, the necessity of taking Conservation and the increase from 12 to 18 hours required in economics, sociology or history.

HE'S STILL SMILING, EVEN THOUGH

Norm Litzner's Nearing End

By Grace Jahn

The year is over for Norm Litzner — a year of serving in the highest student position at Wartburg, that of Student Body president.

Presiding over Senate meetings and Student Body meetings, serving on various committees and leading the Homecoming parade in his suit of armor are only a few of the duties which occupied Norm's time during the year.

"This has been an awfully important year in my life," said Litzner. "I've done a lot more thinking about my future."

As he reviewed the year of student government, there were some things that Norm would like to do over. The convocation problem, the pops concert and the health program are topics with which he is not satisfied.

"I don't think a person can ever be satisfied with a job he's done," commented the retiring prexy.

Litzner is thankful for the broadening of student government during the past year.

This he feels has been done through the student member of the Waverly Junior Chamber of Commerce, the endorsement of the open-city plan and the groundwork that has been laid for a national Lutheran student government organization.

"There's been more interest in student government — because of things done or things not done, I can't say."

Giving out with the smile familiar to every Wartburg student, Norm mused, "I'm not the idealist I was when I came into office."

He continued that he has learned that it is impossible to please everyone.

"It's not possible, not even sensible."

Litzner feels that future SBP's will need more knowledge of the total program of the college. Future prexies will need to possess definite leadership and organization.

"The basic problem is communication," explained Litzner.

Norm is an arts-seminary student from

Cheboygan, Mich., who plans to attend the Wartburg Seminary at Dubuque next year. He likes working with people and plans to make the parish ministry his career.

Although Litzner has said that he is not entirely satisfied with the past year, he equally asserts that he's not a pessimist.

"Even though I don't see any way of getting around a third world war," he quipped.

Norm

He believes that basically student government exists as a privilege and not a right.

"I've come out a firm believer in student government."

The year is over for Norm Litzner, Student Body president.

Approximately 160 Graduate June 7

Approximately one hundred sixty seniors will graduate from Wartburg at the annual commencement exercises June 7, according to the latest report from the registrar's office.

Speaking at the exercises will be Dr. Martin E. Marty, associate editor of The Christian Century. The Band and the Choir will also appear on the program.

Receiving honorary doctorates at the exercises will be Dr. Anne Carlsen, winner of the "Handicapped American of the Year" award, and Dr. Magnus Hestenes, mathematics professor at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Baccalaureate service is scheduled June 5 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Waverly. Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg, History Department, will speak.

Wartburg's annual Alumni Day will be held June 6. The Board of Regents will also meet on that date.

Honors Program At Convo Tues.

Annual Honors Convocation will be held during the regular convo period Tuesday. The program, which has formerly been held during the evening, features the presentation of scholarships and awards.

The Rev. A. Reuben Gornitzka of Central Lutheran Church in Minneapolis will deliver the sermon in a convocation of worship Thursday. Pastor Gornitzka will speak on "The Importance of You."

Castle Singers will also have a part in the convocation.

Alpha Chi Elects

Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic fraternity, elected officers for the coming year at its meeting Tuesday night.

Dave Grube was chosen president, Bruce Bergquist vice president, Mary Heuer secretary, Paul Ahrens treasurer and Grace Jahn regional representative. All are juniors.

The group voted to retain its faculty sponsors, the Rev. Edwin Schick of the Christianity Department and Miss Erna Mochl of the English Department.

Knights Face BV Here Today At 2

By Tom Kuckkahn

Wartburg's baseball squad winds up its conference play today as it takes on first-place Buena Vista here at 2 p.m.

A lot can happen in action throughout the league today, and the conference champion will not be declared until the dust has cleared.

Right now BV is on top with a 9-2 record, Luther is second with a 5-2 record and the Knights are third with a 6-3 mark.

The conference champ is decided by percentage, so if BV wins, it will be the undisputed champ.

HOWEVER, IF the Knights down BV, which they did in their first encounter with the Beavers, and Luther defeats UIU, there will be a deadlock between BV, 9-3 (.750) and Luther, 6-2 (.750).

If Wartburg wins and Luther loses, the Knights will climb into second, 7-3 (.700), while dropping Luther, 5-3 (.625), to third.

An interesting and eventful afternoon is in store for avid conference baseball fans. If things go right for the Oppiemens, they could possibly finish two notches higher than last year's squad did.

Next week the Oppiemens will complete their schedule with two non-conference games against Iowa State Teachers College. ISTC, currently among the leaders in the North Central Conference, is always especially tough in baseball.

THE KNIGHTS will be at TC on Monday and the Panthers will be here on Thursday. Last year the Knights split a two-game series with them.

Tuesday afternoon the Knights toppled Upper Iowa University, 1-0, behind the six-hit pitching of junior speedballer M a r v Ott. Ott struck out two, walked only one and never allowed a UIU runner to advance beyond second base.

His teammates provided him with excellent support afield as they committed only one error while completing one double play, barely missing another and catching a man stealing.

THE BALL GAME was won in the fifth inning. UIU muffed its chance to tally while Wartburg capitalized on its opportunity.

The Peacocks' lead-off hitter in the fifth doubled but failed to advance on an excellent bunt. The next batter lifted a fly, which would have enabled the runner to score if he had been on third. The inning ended uneventfully.

AL EXNER OPENED up the Knights' fifth with a line single to left. Arlyn Saathoff sacrificed him to second. Second sacker Terry Exner hit a roller to second, enabling Al to advance to third.

With two out, right fielder Darrol Bauer stepped up to provide the heroics for the day.

He came through with a clutch single to score Exner from third.

Last Saturday the Luther Norskies hung a 6-0 loss upon the Knights. Clay Lyon, ace fireballer, allowed the Knights only two hits. Luther jumped on lefty Jim Borcharding for three runs in the third and then added one more in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Tight pitching and defense enabled the Knights to emerge victorious 1-0.

Wartburg closes its conference season today with a home game with Buena Vista, who is currently leading the pack in the Iowa Conference.

A victory would enable the Knights to finish second.

Netmen Win First Match

Wartburg tennis squad turned in its first victory of the season as it turned back a Central squad by a score of 6-3. The meet marked the continual improvement of the Knight squad over previous performances.

The next outing for the squad is at Decorah at the conference doubles tourney Friday and Saturday. Coach Adeline Langrock stated that Larry Mugridge had a chance to place high with the right pairings and good play.

Mugridge, who was runner-up Conference singles champion last year, was the only Wartburg player to survive first round competition yesterday. He played in the semifinals this morning.

THE NETMEN swept all but one of the singles matches. Larry Mugridge started things off by defeating Clerbout by a 6-4, 6-1 score. He was followed by Dick Jebson, who won his match over Tanis with a 6-1, 7-9, 6-3 score.

This was followed by the only singles defeat of the afternoon as Ron Hart fell to Daane in a 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 tally. Dave Braunschweig got Wartburg back on the win trail with a 6-4, 8-6 defeat of Boat.

Harold Olesen followed by defeating Kuiken 6-4, 2-6, 6-1. The singles ended as Bob Dies beat Jurgens 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

IN THE doubles matches Mugridge and Braunschweig posted the only win as they defeated Boat and Clerbout 4-6,

Iowa Conference Meeting Held At Luther Yesterday

By Dave Jensen

Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conference held its annual spring meeting in Decorah last night.

Dr. Elmer Hertel, Secretary of the Iowa Conference, and coaches Dr. A. C. Bundgaard, Norman Johansen, Wendell Lie-mohn, Earnest Oppermann and Adeline Langrock attended the meeting.

IN CONJUNCTION with the Conference meeting, the Iowa Association of Sports Information Directors held its annual meeting. Duane Schroeder, Wartburg sports publicity director, attended this meeting.

The two groups joined in a dinner at 7 p.m. before entering into their business meetings.

Main item of business on the agenda for the coaches was the trimester basis of classes which Parsons College at Fairfield will inaugurate with this summer session. Presently, there is only one school in the United States on this basis—the University of Pittsburgh.

AS FORESEEN by the Conference coaches, the trimester could completely upset the Conference eligibility rules. The rules state that an athlete must be enrolled in school one semester after transferring from another school.

The trimester basis would give Parsons an extra semester in which to get athletes eligible for competition.

"We will compromise to the hilt with the Conference on this matter," stated Dr. Milford Roberts, president of Parsons College, in an interview. "If we continue on this basis, Parsons will have a definite edge in getting boys eligible for competition," he added.

Dr. Roberts went on to explain the trimester basis was to set up facilities for more students. Next year Parsons expects an enrollment of more than fourteen hundred for both the fall-winter and winter-spring semester and over 500 for the summer session.

"PARSONS ALSO accepts students who are in the lower half of their classes. About one-third of our Student Body is in this category," Dr. Roberts said. "And we have nearly five thousand applications now of students in this class."

It would be possible then for Parsons to get athletes who have failed to do passing work elsewhere in college and have them eligible, through the summer semester, to play this fall.

Other business on the agenda was the matter of scheduling and the proposed increase in salaries for the conference commissioner and secretary.

The sports publicity directors met to discuss the possibility of setting up definite conference records in all sports. In the past, records have been kept up to date by the individual schools, and the conference has had to go along with these.

Track Squad In Decorah To Compete In IC Meet

By Tom Kuckkahn

Wartburg track squad left for Decorah yesterday to participate in the Iowa Conference track meet. Three field events were held yesterday as well as qualifying heats for the dashmen.

Defending champion Dubuque and last year's second-place squad, Luther, will be co-favorites in the meet for the 10th year in a row. It has been 10 years since a team other than Luther or Dubuque has won the title.

DUBUQUE SEEMS to be the better of the two because the Spartans downed the Norskies 71½-59½ in a dual meet earlier this year. Both squads have beaten Wartburg.

An interesting feature of this year's meet is that in all but two events, the shot put and pole vault, individual titleholders will be defending their crowns.

LAST SATURDAY Luther College assured itself of the traditional traveling trophy between Wartburg and Luther, the battle-axe, for next year as the Norskies rolled past the Knights

93½-37½ in a dual track meet at Decorah

Dixon Zander, sophomore pole vaulter, placed first in the pole vault as he sailed 12' 3" to set a new school record.

EDDIE SKAY, talented sprinter, missed setting a new school record in the 220-yard dash by .1 second. Skay placed first in the 220 as he set a new Wartburg record with a time of 21.9.

Four other Knights garnered firsts in the meet. John Niemeyer, outstanding hurdler, continued his winning ways by winning the 120 high hurdles.

Chuck Wallin, holder of the school record in the discus, won that event with a toss of 135' 8". Freshmen Len Schmidt and Jerry Schara tied with two Luther men for first place in the high jump with leaps of 5' 8".

FACING THE world upside-down, Dixon Zander clears the bar during an afternoon practice session. Zander, sophomore from Sumner, has twice broken the Wartburg mark in pole vault. His current top mark is 12 feet 3 inches. Zander is the Knights' best bet to garner a first place in the conference track meet this weekend.

Golfers, Netsters Travel To Luther

Wartburg's golf and tennis squads are at Decorah this weekend, along with the track squad, for the conference meet.

Dubuque has just about its entire second-place tennis team back from last year and appears headed for the crown. Wartburg finished fourth in the meet last year.

Larry Mugridge, number one man on the squad for the second straight year, appears to have the best chance of picking up points for the Knights.

Wartburg's best chance of gaining a conference championship appears to be in the golf meet. The Knights, bolstered by many top-notch frosh this spring, have been having an excellent season.

The Knights finished fourth in the meet last year, but if they can get past Luther they should emerge victorious.

Tennis Team Victors

The Wartburg tennis squad boosted its record to 2-4 Thursday when it defeated Simpson 5-4 on the home courts.

In the top match, the Knights' Larry Mugridge outclassed Doug Lorey 6-2, 6-0.

Picking Up Splinters

By Chuck Jepsen

During the time the Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conference is holding its annual conference, it might be well to look at and comment on some existing policies of the Conference concerning baseball.

For instance, do you know what the Iowa Conference baseball standings are?

If you do, you're lucky, because that knowledge is pretty well hidden. Why isn't it common knowledge? This lack of information is only one of the faults of the Iowa Conference.

No provision is made for replays of games cancelled because of bad weather conditions in cases where the teams have to travel a considerable distance to meet each other.

Granted that it is especially hard to find time to get all the games in, but the existing situation sometimes leads to confused and inaccurate standings, such as the possibility of a team's winning the championship with a 3-0 record.

One of the major ills was supposedly cured when Commissioner Les Duke was appointed last year. Yet shortly after his appointment, he allowed certain basketball players from Dubuque to continue to play after having definitely violating conference regulations.

He was again confronted with a problem this year when Wartburg baseball coach Earnest F. Oppermann protested an umpire's decision during a game with Central. Although openly admitting that Oppermann had a legitimate reason for protesting a player's being tagged out after time had been called, he disallowed it.

Had Oppermann demanded a forfeiture, Duke could certainly have refused the protest. But Oppermann only requested a complete replay, and may have been satisfied with a complete disallowance of the game.

It appears to an outsider as if Duke is afraid to take any definite action. This may be partially the truth, but there are other motives as well. In this instance he was put on the spot by Central's refusal to play because it would cost the school too much money.

Could Duke have disallowed the protest because of the possibility of other teams' protesting future games on little or no grounds after they once realize the possibility that their protest might be upheld?

Another factor to consider is Wartburg's status in the conference. The Knights are assuming the dominant role by coping two consecutive football and basketball crowns.

Wartburg and Luther are now in the same position that Loras and St. Ambrose were in a few years ago, when they more or less ruled the conference. Shortly afterward they were asked to leave the Conference. Now both schools have been forced to drop football because of lack of fans' attendance.

There is some fear in enemy camps that Wartburg is getting too big for its britches (and the Iowa Conference). Wartburg doesn't believe that. We feel that the Iowa Conference should grow in stature as its participating schools expand and enlarge their activities.

Rain Postpones Softball Games

Rain again played havoc with the intramural softball schedule last week.

Only two games, one a play-off of a tie, were completed as rain washed out Monday and Thursday games.

The play-off resulted after a 15-15 tie in a previous game between the Clinton Cards and the Engineers. The Cards dropped the Engineers from the double elimination tournament in a three-inning game, 6-2. All play-off games are three innings.

The Cards in turn were then eliminated by Lueder, 12-10, in a game postponed from Monday to Tuesday.

Still on tap is the duel between Richard Kruger and Corliss Klaassen, pitchers for Grossmann III and the Clinton Tigers, respectively. That game is scheduled for Monday.

The IM track meet, scheduled at first for May 19, will be held next Tuesday, according to Larry Niemann, IM head. The change was made to prevent a conflict with IM softball. Five teams, to be signed up soon, will compete for the team crown.

GOLFERS TIE LUTHER

Wartburg and Luther ended in a 9-9 tie in their golf match last Saturday. Wartburg's John Osbrink was medalist for the meet with a 6-over-par 76 on the Decorah golf course.

BLOW, YE TRUMPET

Flachman Sounds Off Once More

By Grace Jahn

One more to go.

Wilbur Flachman has to take one more deep breath to sound forth one more blast on the campus Trumpet.

How does he feel about it?

"Ask me that June 7," laughed the editor.

For the past year Flachman has been editing the Trumpet, a weekly job that takes seven days out of every week.

Standing out in his journalism year at Wartburg, as far as individual issues are concerned, are the safety contest issues and the after-Christmas and Student Body elections issues.

"The most rewarding experiences would be the business manager and the Associated Collegiate Press convention in New York City last fall," said Flachman.

The physical education major from Prairie Grove wouldn't do anything differently during the year. He feels that the Trumpet's biggest problem has been a too-limited scope.

"We're in our own little world here, but I don't see how this can be improved."

Flachman's philosophy of the student newspaper hasn't changed.

"The student newspaper isn't just a matter of reporting news. It's promotion of student welfare in any way that's possible and profitable."

The editor found that his job has been personally beneficial because it has stimulated him in other areas.

"You have to know a touch about everything."

The job has also enhanced Flachman's future. Starting June 10, he will begin working with Lewis W. Roop on the DeSoto Jefferson Republic and Press as assistant editor. The paper is located in DeSoto, Mo., suburb of St. Louis.

"My job will differ very little from my job now, except that I will have more time for writing myself," explained Flachman.

"The year hasn't been too bad," he said. "I still buy small boxes of aspirin."

Take one more deep breath, and blow, Flachman, blow!

WILBUR FLACHMAN perches on the steps of the Publications House as he holds copies of two newspapers.

On his knee is the Trumpet, of which he has been editor for the past year, and in his hands is the Jefferson Republic, the paper which he will begin to edit within the next three weeks. The Republic is published in DeSoto, Mo.

Litzner, Burcham Win Local Prizes

Senior Norm Litzner and freshman Bill Burcham won the local prizes in an editorial contest sponsored by the Intercollegiate Association for Study of the Alcohol Problem.

Litzner won the 15-dollar first prize for his editorial, "How Much Is Too Much?" A 30-dollar scholarship to the International Intercollegiate School of Alcohol Studies, to be held in Hamilton, Ontario, Aug. 20-25, also went to Litzner or his alternate.

Burcham's editorial "Why?" won the second prize of 10 dollars.

Members of English and journalism classes entered the contest. Their work is still eligible for prizes in the international competition.

HOME EC. TEA TUES.

All girls interested in home economics are invited at a tea Tuesday, according to an announcement by Miss Hazel May Snyder, Home Economics Department. The tea will be from 3:30-4:30 p.m. in the Home Ec. House.

Recital Tomorrow By Mastin, Linkey

A senior recital will be presented tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. by Lorraine Mastin and Dolores Linkey in the Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Mastin, soprano, is the student of C. Robert Larson and will be accompanied by Julianne Mensing, freshman.

A student of Dr. E. A. Hovdesven, Mrs. Linkey will present organ selections.

The public is invited to attend, according to Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Wartburg Music Department.

Two More Engaged

Two Wartburg students recently became engaged.

Senior Douglas Schuldt, Sumner, gave Joyce Aden, former Wartburg student now working in Waterloo, a diamond. The couple is planning an Aug. 14 wedding.

Freshman Janice Eggers, Clinton, is engaged to Ronald Gray, Miles. Wedding plans are indefinite.

Frosh Plan Fall Initiation

In preparation for the annual Squire Days, the freshman class has named initiation chairmen for the September program.

Committees for Squire Days are already functioning, according to Ron Beckman, newly elected sophomore president, and many plans are being made to welcome the incoming frosh.

Committee chairmen include Bill Wesender, Davenport, president's reception; Fred Dierks, Inwood, King Arthur's court; Kathie Knuth, Davenport, girls' initiation; Carol Stier, Belle Plaine, Minn., general coordinator.

Warren Hilgendorf, Grafton, Wis., Outfly; Lyn Lienhard, Sheboygan, Wis., talent show; Jim Ollenburg, Knoke, Amalgamation Day; Karen Arns, Waverly, registration; and Oscar Scofield, Green Bay, Wis., games and refreshments at freshman mixer.

"We sophomores and upper-classmen want to be sure to remember that the purpose of Squire Days is to introduce freshmen to the spirit at Wartburg and to fellow students," stated Beckman.

Liemohn Will Receive Doctorate At Capital

Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Wartburg Music Department, will be awarded the honorary degree of doctor of music at the commencement exercises at Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, on June 6.

Dr. Liemohn has been with the Wartburg Music Department since 1937.

Dr. Liemohn was offered the degree last year but had to decline it because he couldn't be present at Capital's commencement exercises. He had just left with the Choir on its European tour.

Following the commencement exercises, he will attend the annual meeting of the Lutheran Society for Worship, Music and the Arts. This will be held in Allentown, Pa., June 8-10.

Testing Results Given To Sophs

Results of the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress were released this week to the sophomores participating in the program, according to Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann.

A detailed analysis of the over-all results will be made next year by a committee appointed to study Wartburg students. Dr. Wilmut Fruehling, Psychology Department, is chairman of the committee.

The tests, which are standardized and given on a national basis, were administered to sophomores in April. Four main areas, mathematics, reading, science and social science, were included in the tests.

In addition to helping evaluate the sophomore class as a whole, the tests will be used to diagnose individual weaknesses, according to Oppermann.

HAATS' STUFF

By LaVonne

This weekend will be busy for students who plan to have a last fling before finals and for the ambitious students who are gunning a week in advance instead of the night before. Good luck to both groups!

For people who enjoy a hearty breakfast or just like to get up in the morning, Hans Sachs' May Breakfast will interest you. The day for the breakfast is May 22, and the time is 6 a.m. All students interested in attending should meet in front of Old Main. The price is only 40 cents.

Phebes is sponsoring a picnic this Sunday. Members are asked to meet at the Riverside Park in Waverly at 5:30 p.m.

The Business Student Association had its annual election at the beginning of the month. President for the coming year is Dave Sietkes; vice president, Wayne Dreier; secretary, LaVonne Rickertson; and treasurer, Dick James.
